

Hi Chameleon! :)

I have read your letter and I am terribly sorry about what us humans are doing to you animals and your homes. We are definitely in the wrong here and we take the full blame for all of this mess. Your right, we do suck. I know you have been here for millions more years than us and we have already destroyed the planet, but I am a kid right now and cannot do much to stop it, but I will try to spread the word about pollution and deforestation. I feel so bad that you have to work so hard just to get a good night's sleep. We do need a lot of wood, but I know it's not right to just destroy your homes for something that we want. We are being so selfish towards you animals. I know all the trees are being replaced with cattle, but we need those cows to survive because they are what give us our meat (food). I also read about your cousin in the Sahara desert. It must have been a wonderful sight for him each morning to see those majestic creatures walk right before his eyes. I can just imagine how cool it must have been to have a giraffe that close to your face! He must be devastated that he doesn't get to see that anymore. It's a horrible thought to see dead animals just laying on the ground and for you to be helpless towards it. I 100% believe that poaching is not right and I do not support it. I hate the thought of someone killing a poor, innocent animal, just for their horns or skin. I admit that we do over use our internet and energy, but a lot of us need it to earn money! I understand that pollution in the water is a HUGE problem right now, and lots of animals are dying from it, but there is a group of people going round picking up littered pieces of rubbish off the ground. I will from now on try to use my car less and walk to places more often.

Please don't think you are alone. We are all in this together!

From Evie :)
